Catholic Cemeteries, Diocese of Springfield in Illinois Designation Document Instructions and Sample

Use: The Designation Document is used when permission must be obtained by the lot owner(s) or his/her heirs for additional burials or major work on the lot.

Some examples would include:

- Harriet Jones owns two plots and her grandson dies. Her daughter, the grandchild's mother, would sign the Interment Authorization form, which would authorize the burial. Harriet would need to sign the Designation Document, which provides permission to bury her grandson in her lot.
- John Doe has purchased four plots, but did not predetermine who was to be buried in each grave. John Doe is buried in one grave and each of his five children has a right to be buried in the other three plots. His son, Hank Doe wants to be buried in his father's lot, so each of his siblings must sign the Designation Document, which would give permission for him to be buried on the lot.
- Hank Doe has a wife who has died and he wants her buried on his father's lot. Again, his siblings would need to sign the Designation Document, thereby giving permission for his wife to be buried on the lot.
- Hank Doe's son dies and he would like him to be buried above his wife. Hank's siblings would need to sign the Designation Document, thereby giving permission for his son to be buried on the lot.

Directions:

- 1. The name and contact information for the cemetery.
- 2. If the Designation Document is being used to obtain permission for a burial, include the name of the person being designated for burial and the exact location where the burial is to occur.
- 3. The notes section should be used to provide a detailed description of what permission is being obtained for. It is important that the lot owner(s) or heir(s) fully understand what they are signing to prevent problems in the future.
- 4. This section is used to obtain the notarized signatures of the owner(s) or his/her surviving heir(s). It is important that the name of each owner or heir is listed before anyone signs the document.

This section should also include the following information:

- a. The name and contact information for each owner or heir;
- b. The relationship of the heir to the owner;
- c. The notarized signature of the owner(s) or surviving heir(s); and
- d. The notary's information which verifies that the signature was witnessed.
